1. POLICY STATEMENT

- 1.1 The CCG is committed to creating and promoting a culture and work environment that is safe and free of harassment and bullying for all employees, where everyone is treated with dignity and respect and protected from harassment, victimisation, intimidation and other forms of bullying at work for all employees and other workers. 1.2 The CCG believes that harassment and bullying at work in any form, whether by physical contact, verbally, in writing, via visual images or by any other social networks or media or any other unwanted forms of behaviour, is completely unacceptable and will not be tolerated.
- 1.2 The CCG will also not tolerate victimisation, intimidation or discrimination of a person for making an allegation/s of bullying and/or harassment in good faith, supporting someone to make such a complaint or assisting in investigations. Any retaliation against these employees for making a complaint of bullying and/or harassment or assisting in an investigation will be taken very seriously, investigated and if appropriate disciplinary action will be taken .
- 1.3 All allegations of bullying and harassment will be taken very seriously and will be handled sensitively, promptly and confidentially. Harassment is unlawful under the Equality Act 2010. This policy aims to ensure allegations of bullying and/or harassment, regardless of whether the matter has been raised formally or informally are investigated and, if/where necessary, action is taken to prevent further bullying and/or harassment, and if appropriate action is also taken in accordance with the CCG's Disciplinary Policy.
- 1.4 Managers and employees alike should note that the CCG's liability may extend to both "official" and "unofficial" social activities as these may be deemed to be an extension of the workplace. The organisation may have a duty of care in respect of such matters and will investigate all complaints of inappropriate or improper conduct whether they are alleged to have occurred in or outside the workplace. 1.5 This policy applies to all employees and other workers engaged to work in the CCG (contractors, secondees, trainees, apprentices, work experience, bank staff, lay members, volunteers and agency workers), but does not cover allegations of bullying and harassment by customers, suppliers, patients or visitors. In these cases, employees should report any such behaviour to their manager who will take appropriate action.
- 1.6 Employees must be aware that managers have a responsibility to manage and that legitimate management action carried out in a fair and proper manner will not be considered as bullying and harassment.

2. PRINCIPLES

- 2.1 This policy is designed to ensure that all complaints of harassment, bullying or being treated inappropriately at work are dealt with objectively, quickly, sensitively, and confidentially.
- 2.2 Whether or not behaviour is constituted as unacceptable or bullying and harassment is not determined by the intention of the person who has caused the offence, but by the effect it has on the recipient. It is up to that person to decide if they find the behaviour unacceptable.
- 2.3 All employees and other workers will be made aware of the policy on joining the organisation and will be encouraged to read and understand its process. All existing staff and other workers will be made aware of the policy and training sessions will be organised for management and staff.

- 2.4 Each employee or other worker of the organisation carries a responsibility for their own behaviour. They should act at all times in accordance with the CCG's values and behaviours. However, the behaviour of people in the workplace can vary on a daily basis. Employees who normally appear civil can occasionally appear impatient or pre-occupied. This policy and procedure is not intended to deal with occasional lapses of good manners unless a pattern of behaviour emerges that is perceived to be offensive or intimidating.
- 2.5 All matters relating to any part of this procedure will be treated in strict confidence. Any breach of this confidentiality may render those responsible liable to disciplinary actions. However, it must be remembered that legislation and best practice requires the accused to be made aware of the allegations against them and the name(s) of those making the allegations, along with witnesses.
- 2.6 No employee or other worker will be victimised for making a complaint of harassment and no manager shall threaten either explicitly or implicitly that an employee's complaint of harassment will be used as a basis for decisions affecting that employee. Such conduct will be treated as a serious disciplinary offence.
- 2.7 Managers are required to act upon any complaint of bullying and harassment, whether formal or informal. This may include the organisation investigating and taking action even if the individual does not wish to take the matter further if the allegations are sufficiently serious. Failure by a manager to do so will be regarded as misconduct, which if proven, may result in disciplinary action. Details of all such complaints must be notified to Human Resources for monitoring and reporting purposes.
- 2.8 Any employee or other worker who wishes to make a complaint of bullying, harassment or other unacceptable behaviour, should first discuss this informally with his/her line manager/other appropriate manager/HR, providing they feel able to do so. Should the issues not be resolved at this stage, or if an employee feels unable to raise the issue informally, then a formal resolution should be sought as outlined in PART 2.
- 2.9 Where a complaint of bullying and/or harassment is brought to the attention of a manager, whether formally or informally, prompt action will be taken to investigate the case. If bullying and/or harassment are established action will be taken. This may include (for example): training and development, coaching or disciplinary action.
- 2.10 If it is considered that one of the parties concerned should be moved from the workplace, then as a matter of principle, the CCG will normally remove the alleged harasser rather than the complainant. This may be a move to another department without detriment or a period of suspension on full pay in line with the CCG's Disciplinary Policy. The complainant will only be moved if they request this. It should be noted that by moving either party, there is no implied guilt nor will this have any detriment on the investigation.
- 2.11 The organisation recognises the distress and anxiety that such allegations can cause to both the complainant and the alleged harasser. Support is available for both parties from HR and the Occupational Health service (details of which are available on your local intranet site or from your manager or HR) and Trade Union representatives. The rights of both the complainant and the alleged harasser will be given due respect when dealing with complaints of bullying and/or harassment.
- 2.12 It is recommended that staff involve their Trade Union representative for advice and guidance at the earliest opportunity. Alternatively for advice and guidance staff can contact ACAS, Citizens Advice Bureau or the Equality and Human Rights Commission.

3. BULLYING AND HARASSMENT

3.1 Harassment is defined in the Equality Act 2010 as “unwanted conduct related to a relevant protected characteristic, which has the purpose or effect of violating an individual’s dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that individual”. Harassment which does not relate to a protected characteristic is not covered by the Equality Act.

Harassment is defined in three ways by the Equality Act 2010:

1. Unwanted conduct that has the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for the complainant, or violating the complainant’s dignity (this applies to all the protected characteristics apart from pregnancy and maternity, and marriage and civil partnership).
2. Unwanted conduct of a sexual nature (sexual harassment).
3. Treating a person less favourably than another person because they have either submitted to, or did not submit to, sexual harassment or harassment related to sex or gender reassignment.

3.2 The key to distinguishing between what does and does not constitute harassment is that harassment is behaviour that is unwanted by the person to whom it is directed. It is the impact of the conduct and not the intent of the perpetrator that is the determinant.

3.3 Harassment may be an isolated occurrence or repetitive: it may occur against one or more individuals. Harassment may be, but is not limited to:

- Physical contact – ranging from touching to serious assault, gestures, intimidation, aggressive behaviour
- Verbal – unwelcome remarks, suggestions and propositions, malicious gossip, jokes and banter, offensive language
- Non-verbal – offensive literature or pictures, graffiti and computer imagery, isolation or non-co-operation and exclusion or isolation from social activities

Details of the protected characteristics covered by this policy are set out in Appendix 1.

3.4 Bullying can be defined as unacceptable behaviour as perceived by the employee, which subjects the individual or group to unwelcome attention, intimidation, humiliation or ridicule or violation of an individual’s dignity. Furthermore, ACAS characterises bullying as offensive, intimidating, malicious or insulting behaviour, an abuse or misuse of power through means that undermine, humiliate, denigrate or injure the recipient. : Examples of unacceptable behaviour that are covered by this policy are provided, but are not limited to, those set out in Appendix 2.

3.5 Victimisation is where an employee is subjected to a detriment because they have, in good faith, raised a concern or complained, be it formally or informally, that they have been bullied or harassed, or supported someone to raise a concern or complaint or given evidence in relation to a complaint.

3.6 Employees and other workers must be clear that submitting a bullying and harassment complaint does not automatically protect them under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998 (PIDA). Every bullying and harassment complaint will be dealt with in the strictest of confidence and every effort will be made to ensure all those involved are supported.

However, an employee's identity cannot be protected as the employee who has had the allegation(s) made against them, must have the opportunity to respond.

3.7 A Raising Concerns (Whistleblowing) procedure is in place to enable employees to raise genuine concerns, without the fear of reprisals. The procedure applies where an employee or other worker reasonably believes:

- That a criminal offence has been committed is being committed or is likely to be committed
- That a person has failed, is failing, or is likely to fail to comply with any legal obligation to which the worker is subject
- That a miscarriage of justice has occurred, is occurring or is likely to occur
- That the health or safety of any individual has been, is being, or is likely to be damaged
- That information tending to show any matter falling within any one of the proceeding paragraphs has been, is being or is likely to be deliberately concealed

For further information, please refer to the CCG's HR35 Raising Concerns (Whistleblowing) Policy.

4. RESPONSIBILITIES

4.1 All managers are responsible for seeking to prevent any infringement of this policy amongst the staff for which they are responsible (please refer to the NHS Code of Conduct for Managers October 2002). Their responsibilities include:

- Ensuring that all employees and other workers are aware of the content of this policy and understand acceptable and unacceptable behaviour at work and that bullying and/or harassment is a disciplinary offence
- Ensuring that there is a supportive working environment
- Taking prompt action to prevent and stop harassment by using this policy
- If a member of staff makes a complaint of harassment or bullying (informally or formally) ensuring they execute their duty to consider it and take appropriate action and inform HR
- Ensuring that they attend any training sessions instigated by the organisation.

4.2 All employees and other workers of the organisation are responsible for helping to ensure that individuals do not suffer any form of bullying and/or harassment and they are encouraged and supported in any legitimate complaint. Every individual will be accountable for the operation of this policy, as they carry responsibility for their own behaviour and actions on or off site. All employees of the CCG should ensure:

- They are aware of their own behaviour and the affect this may have on others around them
- They understand that bullying and harassment will not be tolerated by the organisation
- They treat colleagues with respect and dignity
- They use the procedure responsibly and only in situations where you genuinely believe that bullying and/or harassment is taking place. Malicious usage of this policy is a disciplinary offence.

4.3 All employees and other workers should take special care to behave appropriately on social networking sites, and not to participate in behaviour that may be considered inappropriate under this policy.

4.4 Employees and other workers who attend external work related events (e.g. conferences, community engagement, research, training etc.) that are organised by the CCG or attended as CCG representative should ensure that they do not participate in behaviour that may be construed as inappropriate under this policy. This policy covers the conduct of CCG employees and other workers towards people who are not members of the CCG (such as patients, applicants, contractors and other members of the public who visit the CCG site or use CCG services).

4.5 The CCG will take steps to ensure that its policies are communicated to those undertaking work at the CCG or customer locations and will look to put steps in place to address third party harassment when this is reported to the CCG.

4.6 The organisation will ensure that training is provided to managers and investigators in dealing with bullying and harassment issues and will monitor all reported cases of harassment related to a protected characteristic to make any corrective measures based on the information provided.

5. SCHEME OF DELEGATION

Informal procedure	Line Manager or equivalent level manager from elsewhere within the organisation.
Formal procedure	Line manager or equivalent level manager from elsewhere within the organisation, or the line manager's direct manager if the line manager has been previously involved or implicated, and an HR representative.
Appeal against a disciplinary sanction	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>will be dealt with in accordance with the appeals process in the CCG's Disciplinary Policy.</li> </ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Appeals by a complainant about the outcome of any inquiry</li> </ul>	Chaired by a senior manager with authority to dismiss plus one other manager and an HR representative. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>will be dealt with in accordance with the appeal process in the CCG's Grievance Policy.</li> </ul>

6. RECORDS

6.1 Where the complaint is informal and resolved at this stage, no record will be kept on personal files.

6.2 Following formal investigation, where the complaint is not substantiated, no records will be retained on personal files.

6.3 Where a complaint is substantiated or partially substantiated but does not proceed to disciplinary, a letter confirming the outcome and records of support will be retained on the personal file together with any subsequent supporting documentation, e.g. coaching, training, and mentoring records.

6.4 Where the matter proceeds to a disciplinary hearing then the storage of records should be in accordance with the disciplinary procedure.

7. EQUALITY STATEMENT

- 7.1 In applying this policy, the CCG will have due regard for the need to eliminate unlawful discrimination, promote equality of opportunity, and provide for good relations between people of diverse groups, in particular on the grounds of the following characteristics protected by the Equality Act (2010); age, disability, gender reassignment, marriage or civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex and sexual orientation.

8. MONITORING & REVIEW

- 8.1 The organisation will review the outcomes of cases where complaints of bullying and harassment have been made to check that the proper procedures have been followed and to identify any points that can be learnt from those cases and implement necessary changes. The organisation will also monitor how successful they are being in creating a workplace free of bullying and harassment by other means, including staff survey.
- 8.2 The CCG will monitor all reported cases of harassment by age, sex, sexual orientation, gender reassignment, disability, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion and belief to identify any issues or trends and take any corrective measures based on the information provided.
- 8.3 The policy and procedure will be reviewed periodically by Human Resources in conjunction with operational managers and Trade Union representatives. Where review is necessary due to legislative change, this will happen immediately.

10 DATA PROTECTION

In applying this policy, the Organisation will have due regard for the Data Protection Act 2018 and the requirement to process personal data fairly and lawfully and in accordance with the data protection principles. Data Subject Rights and freedoms will be respected and measures will be in place to enable employees to exercise those rights. Appropriate technical and organisational measures will be designed and implemented to ensure an appropriate level of security is applied to the processing of personal information. Employees will have access to a Data Protection Officer for advice in relation to the processing of their personal information and data protection issues.

PART 2 - PROCEDURE

11. Informal Resolution

- 11.1 Very often people are not aware that their behaviour is unwelcome or misunderstood and an informal discussion can lead to greater understanding and agreement that the behaviour will cease

- 11.2 An employee who believes he/she has been subject to any form of bullying and/or harassment should be encouraged to try, and if they feel able to do so, to resolve the problem informally by making it clear to the alleged harasser that his/her actions are unwanted and should not be repeated. This may be done verbally or in writing in which case the complainant should keep a copy of the documentation and, where possible the dates and times of incidents should be recorded.
- 11.3 If the employee finds it difficult to approach the alleged harasser on their own, they may wish to request the assistance of a work colleague or a Trade Union representative.
- 11.4 If the employee feels unable to approach the alleged harasser even with the support of a work colleague or Trade Union representative, the employee should contact HR and an appropriate manager will be appointed to meet individually with each of the parties to seek informal resolution.
- 11.5 An individual who is made aware that their behaviour is unacceptable should:
- Listen carefully to the complaints and the particular concerns raised.
  - Respect the other person's point of view: They have a right to work in an environment free from bullying and harassment.
  - Remember that it is the other person's reaction/perception to your behaviour that is important.
  - Agree the aspects of your behaviour that you will change.
  - Review your general conduct/behaviour at work and with workplace colleagues.
- 11.6 Alternatively mediation may be considered as an informal approach. This is a voluntary process to resolve issues between individuals and requires the agreement of both parties. Mediation may be used in situations such as:
- Dealing with conflict between colleagues or between a line manager and staff;
  - Rebuilding relationships after a formal dispute has been resolved;
  - Addressing a range of issues including relationship breakdown, personality clashes, communication problems etc.
- 11.7 It should be noted that not all cases will be suitable for mediation, for example where the parties do not have the authority to settle the issue and that both parties must be in agreement to go ahead.
- 11.8 The mediator is in charge of the process of seeking to resolve the issue but not the outcome, which will be agreed by the individuals.
- 11.9 Should mediation be considered an option then this must be discussed with HR.

12. Formal Resolution

- 12.1 If the alleged bullying and/or harassment continues, the employee feels unable or unwilling to deal with the matter informally, or the allegation is so serious as to prevent use of the informal procedure, then the employee should raise their complaint formally in writing to their line manager or, if appropriate, a more senior manager or HR.
- 12.2 The complaint should include as much detail as possible regarding the alleged bullying and/or harassment, identifying any steps that have been taken to address/prevent it.

- 12.3 On receipt of the complaint, the manager, in conjunction with HR, will determine who should undertake the investigation. A full and detailed investigation will be conducted as set out in the CCG's Disciplinary Policy.
- 12.4 If the allegations and the working situation warrant it, the alleged harasser may be suspended during the investigation in accordance with the CCG's Disciplinary Policy or transferred temporarily pending the outcome of the inquiry to another department.
- 12.5 A prompt, thorough and impartial investigation will take place into the complaint with due regard to both parties. The organisation will treat any claims with sensitivity and handle the matter within confidentiality parameters.

The investigating officer will produce a report including the allegations and findings and this will be submitted to the manager who commissioned the investigation. The commissioning manager will decide:

- Whether there is a case to answer the matter can be dealt with through mediation
- Whether there is justification for consideration of the case at a disciplinary hearing

- 12.6 In addition to the above, the harasser may be required to attend any training courses, mentoring and /or coaching as deemed necessary by the CCG.
- 12.7 It should also be noted that the complainant may wish to move Department/section depending upon the nature of the complaint and the people involved. Appropriate consideration should be given to this request and the outcome with reasons provided to the complainant.
- 12.8 Where it is concluded that there is no case to answer, the employee who is subject to the complaint/allegation and the complainant shall receive feedback which will include the reason for the decision.
- 12.9 Where it is concluded that there is a case to answer and there is justification for the case to be considered at a disciplinary hearing, then the employee shall be notified in writing that the matter will be referred to a disciplinary hearing and this will be conducted in accordance with the CCG's Disciplinary Policy.
- 12.10 If the investigation finds that there has been a knowingly untrue, deliberate or malicious accusation(s) made, then the complainant may be subject to disciplinary proceedings.
- 12.11 If the investigation or disciplinary hearing finds that the complaint is not upheld then every effort will be made to ensure the future working relationship of both is viable.
- 12.12 All employees have a right not to be victimised for making a complaint in good faith, even if the complaint is not upheld.

13. APPEALS

- 13.1 Appeals against decisions taken under the Harassment at Work Policy shall be dealt with as follows:-
- Appeals against a disciplinary sanction will be dealt with in accordance with the appeals process in the CCG's Disciplinary Policy.
  - Appeals by a complainant about the outcome of any inquiry will be dealt with in accordance with the appeal process in the CCG's Grievance Policy.

Appendix 1

Summary of the Key Legislative Provision relating to Equality and Human Rights

The Equality Act 2010 provides a cross-cutting legislative framework to protect the rights of individuals and advance equality of opportunity for all; to update, simplify and strengthen the previous legislation; and to deliver a simple, modern and accessible framework of discrimination law which protects individuals from unfair treatment and promotes a fair and more equal society.

Under this act there are 9 protected characteristics, these are:

- Age
- Disability
- Gender Re-assignment
- Marriage and Civil Partnership
- Pregnancy & Maternity
- Race (including ethnicity or national origins, colour or nationality)
- Religion & Belief (including lack of belief)
- Sex
- Sexual Orientation

The Equality Act 2010 provides definitions of direct discrimination (including Dual Discrimination; because of a combination of two relevant protected characteristics, Associative and Perceptive Discrimination), discrimination arising from disability, indirect discrimination, harassment and victimisation.

A summary of the definitions and which protective characteristics are covered:

Direct Discrimination – someone is treated less favourably than another person because of a protected characteristic. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex, sexual orientation, marriage & civil partnership and pregnancy & maternity.

Associative Discrimination – direct discrimination against someone because they associate with another person who possesses a protective characteristic. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex and sexual orientation.

Discrimination by Perception – direct discrimination against someone because the others think they possess a particular protected characteristic. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex and sexual orientation.

Indirect Discrimination – can occur when you have a rule or policy that applies to everyone but disadvantages a particular protected characteristic. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex, sexual orientation and marriage & civil partnership.

Harassment - is unwanted conduct 'related to a relevant protected characteristic' which has the purpose or effect of violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment. This can include behaviour that is found to be offensive even if it is not directed at them. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex and sexual orientation.

Victimisation - someone is treated badly because they have made/supported a complaint or grievance under the Act. Characteristics covered are, age, disability, gender reassignment, race, sex, sexual orientation, marriage & civil partnership and pregnancy & maternity.

Examples of unacceptable behaviour include but are not limited to:

- Intrusion by pestering, spying, stalking
- Unnecessary or unwanted physical contact or invasion of personal space.
- Sexually suggestive behaviour, or compromising sexual invitation or demands
- Racial harassment- including racist jokes or graffiti
- Homophobic comments and abuse
- Displaying offensive material
- Unwarranted or suggestive remarks
- Verbal or written abuse including non-communication and deliberate and/or inappropriate exclusion from social events
- Derogatory name-calling and insults
- Threats of a physical or psychological nature
- Victimisation because of someone's gender, race, disability, sexual orientation, age, religion or other beliefs
- Overbearing behaviour or language that causes fear or distress to others
- Abuse of power by someone in authority, or intimidation by junior staff towards a member of senior staff
- Incitement of others to commit harassment
- Abuse of power by CCG staff over agency/ temporary staff
- Electronic messages or electronic displays of sexually suggestive pictures or literature (including email and text message)
- Inappropriate or derogatory remarks in connection with performance or appraisal
- Inappropriate literature, pictures, books, tapes etc.

(This is not an exhaustive list)

Equality Impact Assessments

What impact will the new policy/system/process have on the following:
Age - Consider and detail age related evidence. This can include safeguarding, consent and welfare issues Appropriate methods of communication of the Policy have also been carefully considered to ensure they reach all ages of the workforce. Email and the internet can be accessed by all users in the workplace.
Disability - Consider and detail disability related evidence. This can include attitudinal, physical and social barriers as well as mental health/ learning disabilities The disability status of the workforce across the region is unknown therefore relevant tools could be made available to staff that potentially do have a disability that the organisations are unaware of. The policy should be able to be communicated in alternative methods as required for those with a disability and/or visual impairment such as braille, large font, interpreters etc.
Gender reassignment (including transgender) - Consider and detail evidence on transgenderpeople. This can include issues such as privacy of data and harassment. The policy does not include content or vocabulary that could cause offense or discriminate against any staff members who have undergone or are undergoing gender reassignment or that identify as transgender.
Marriage and civil partnership - Consider and detail evidence on marriage and civil partnership. This can include working arrangements, part-time working, caring responsibilities. The content of this policy does not include content or vocabulary that discriminates against staff that may be married or in a civil partnership.
Pregnancy and Maternity - Consider and detail evidence on pregnancy and maternity. This can include working arrangements, part-time working, caring responsibilities. The policy does not discriminate against staff that are currently pregnant or on maternity leave and can be accessed while on maternity leave or any other leave of absence via the organisation's website.
Race - Consider and detail race related evidence. This can include information on difference ethnic groups, Roma gypsies, Irish travellers, nationalities, cultures, and language barriers. The policy does not include vocabulary or content that discriminates against staff on the grounds of race.
Religion or belief - Religion is defined as a particular system of faith and worship but belief includes religious and philosophical beliefs including lack of belief (e.g. Atheism). Generally, a belief should affect your life choices or the way you live for it to be included in the definition. The policy does not discriminate against staff that hold any particular religion or belief.

Sex/Gender - Consider and detail evidence on men and women. This could include access to services and employment.

The Policy does not discriminate between staff that are men or women.

Sexual orientation - Consider and detail evidence on heterosexual people as well as lesbian, gay and bisexual people. This could include access to services and employment, attitudinal and social barriers.

The content of this policy and vocabulary used does not discriminate against staff based on their sexual orientation.

Carers - Consider and detail evidence on part-time working, shift-patterns, general caring responsibilities.

The content of this policy and vocabulary used does not discriminate against staff who have carer responsibilities.

Other Identified Groups and Health Inequalities - Consider and detail evidence on groups experiencing disadvantage and barriers to access and outcomes. This can include different socio-economic groups, geographical area inequality, income, resident status (migrants, asylum seekers). What is the potential impact of your work on health inequalities?

Other groups have been considered however as the policy is for staff there are no additional impacts on health inequalities.

Alternative formats of this policy will be provided on receipt of individual request.
